ABOUT THIRTY CONVERSIONS

Baptists Now Admit That Dr. Neighbour Is a Second Jenkins.

REVIVAL IS INCREASING.

Another Round of Special Services Announced For Sunday.

The Baptist revival is maintaining hold upon public interest and there is no diminution in the size of the crowds, that fill the church to the doors every night. The morning crowds are also larger than last week.

Dr. R. E. Neighbour is delivering a series of remarkably strong sermons and they seem to improve from night to night. Nothing but praise is heard of the North Carolina evangelist. The Baptists are a unit in the claim that their own pastor, Rev. Millard A. Jenkins, is the best preacher in the South, but many of them admit that Dr. Neighbour is almost as fine a preacher as Dr. Jenkins.

The attendance is not confined to the Baptists, as the whole city seems to be keenly interested in the revival. There have been about thirty conversions so far. Of these 18 have joined the Baptist church and others have announced their intention of joining other churches.

There will be no preaching to-night, but to-morrow there will be another series of special services, occupying pretty much the whole day.

JOHN WOOD DEAD.

Pistol Wounds Received in Fight Prove Fatal.

Central City, Ky., April 23.—John Wood, who was wounded here Tuesday night in a street fight, in which his brother, James D. Wood, was killed, died this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The funeral of J. D. Wood took place here to-day, and was conducted at the Baptist church under the auspices of the Knights of Honor and the Red Men. The crowd was probably the largest that ever attended a funeral in Central City.

Five Little Cousins.

Sturgis, Ky., April 22.—Mrs. Goldie Merit and Mrs. Reynolds, two sisters, living near Providence, gave birth in one night to five children, the former to triplets and the latter to twins. Both mothers and their little flocks are getting along nicely.

SCOUTS IN WINCHESTER

Trigg and Clark Counties Protest Against Soldiers.

Murray, Ky., Apr. 24.—The grand jury will probably return no more indictments for night riding at this sitting. The evidence so far against the suspected men of Kirksey is not strong enough to justify indictments now. It is confidently believed, however, that with more time to secure evidence indictments will be made.

It has leaked out that the reason the first night rider cases were changed from April 27 to April 28 was that several of the men were arrested on April 13 and April 27 is the thirteenth day of court. The two thirteens were too much for them.

Sheriff Edwards has been rounding up the juries, and expects no difficulty in getting them, and it is said that the spare troops will in the meantime be sent into Trigg county to round up some of the missing members of the night rider band.

Gen. Roger Williams and Major Albrecht were in town this morning looking over the situation. They said that they were satisfied, and if they are contemplating any more moves on the part of the soldiers these moves are not known. Nothing is known about the reported occupation of Trigg county.

SOLDIERS UNEXPECTED.

Pineville and Whitesburg Companies in Clark.

Winchester, Ky., April 23.—At an early hour this morning Company I., Second Kentucky Regiment, the Pineville company, under command of Capt. Gibson, arrived in this city, much to the astonishment of the citizens, who had no notice of their coming. At a late hour this afternoon their horses arrived on a freight train from Pineville. About noon the Pineville company was joined by the Whitesburg company which has been on duty at Mt. Sterling for some time, the whole being under command of Maj. Webb, of Whitesburg.

The privates say they have no knowledge as to where or for what purpose they are going, and the officers refuse to give any information whatever. This afternoon a squad moved out the L. & N. railroad, about two miles from the city, and went into camp.

There is much excitement among the citizens of the city to-night, and the visit of the soldiers is the principal topic. Circuit Judge Benton and County Judge Evans both say they have not requested troops and there is no need for them here. Much indignation is expressed and there is talk of an indignation meeting to-morrow to give expression to the feelings of the public. There has been but little trouble here and that some time ago, and not more than half a dozen men have expressed a desire to raise a crop this year.

In passing letters through the mailing machine at the post-office to-day the machine clogged, and on investigation a letter was found which contained a cartridge and a match. It was directed to a man named Steve Johnson, who is not a tobacco raiser, and was mailed on the same rural route on which Johnson resides.

BUYS AND SELLS REAL ESTATE.

Second regiment, Kentucky militia, came here this morning over the Louisville and Nashville road from Pineville. They are under the command of Capt. Gibson, of that city, who alone knows their destination, which he declines to disclose. They were ordered to this city where they will wait for their horses before proceeding to their destination. The horses will be procured at Richmond and reach here this afternoon.

Plot to Kill Drinkard.

The rank cowardice of the night riders in Calloway county is shown in what was believed to have been an attempt to assassinate Clint Drinkard, who has been largely responsible for the arrests on the west side, by a man who was seen lurking around Drinkard's home Thursday night with a rifle. The presence of the man was discovered by Mrs. Drinkard, who heard footsteps in the yard about midnight. Going to the window she saw a man armed with a rifle turn a corner of the house, but when Mr. Drinkard was awakened he got up, and, going into the yard, found that the man had fled. Drinkard called to the fellow to come into the open and fight. Authorities believe that the man was seeking a chance to assassinate Mr. Drinkard by firing on him through the window. Drinkard has been fearless in his course of routing out night riders and has been outspoken in his denunciation of the members of the bands on all occasions.

His store and stock of goods was burned and since the fire he has devoted all his time in an effort to run down the guilty parties.—Paducah Sun, 18th.

Over the River.

Charles Selpelle, a tobacco farmer, at Ripley, Ohio, at the point of guns, was forced to stand idly by while a mob of forty masked men destroyed his tobacco beds. Under the threat of death the masked riders compelled Selpelle to swear that he would not replant his beds and not engage in the tobacco farming this year.

The tobacco beds of Andrew Lawrence, Richard London and Porter Whisner, in the same neighborhood, were also destroyed by the same band of night riders. The Law and Order League has posted a reward of $150 for the arrest of the raiders. It is said Selpelle recognized several of the men and arrests will follow.
